UNABLE TO FIND BODY OF MURDERED OHIO GIRL

Will Warns That Sunstrokes Peril Hatless Politicians

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 11.—My good friend Bill Borah makes life miserable for these presidential candidates.
Every time a new one shies his helmet into what he hopes will be the presidential ring, why Borah floors him with the question "How do you stand on the prohibition question?" and the poor fellow, not knowing which side the most votes are on, is stuck before he starts.
There are men bareheaded in this race now that will be sun struck before even the heat of Kansas City and Houston hits 'em.
Yours with a hat on,
WILL ROBERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Hurry calls for auto chains were the rule last night, when a light snowfall started, and autos began sliding over the streets. The snow continued at intervals during the night, and this morning the out of doors looked like a fairland of white. Weather is so mild, however, that it is doubtful if the snow will remain any length of time.
The idea of autos in funeral processions having the headlights turned on so that the number of cars that travel in the procession will be designated and other traffic will not cut in, seems to be a simple plan that would get the desired results. Few drivers would deliberately cut through a funeral procession but we have seen many processions passing along the streets here that it was difficult to determine where it ended and ordinary traffic started again.

Over around the West Grant street bridge, the thing that is interesting the folks most now is the height of the Shenango river. Every day this week they say it came up a few inches. Trees which stood high and dry when the was low, now are almost completely surrounded. But yet the river will have to rise many feet before a flood stage is reached.

At the Grasselli Chemical Co. plant extensive repairs are going on. Bricklayers are patching up the walls and when this work is completed, officials state, the plant will again be working full time.

Apparently the February 29 birthday is an event in the life of a considerable number of New Castle and Lawrence county folks. Pa New's birthday list for this date, this year, is mounting up rapidly. If you have a birthday this year on February 29 or know anyone in the district who has, send in the name to Pa New.

Tomorrow is the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln. As such it will be especially observed in services in some of the churches of the city. Pa New notes in the announcements made for the day.

Many a motorist when he applied his brakes this morning found to his surprise and dismay that the rear end of his car had the tendency to want to be where the front end was. Pa New saw two of these on the streets, and they turned completely about at the same time.

Perhaps people do not know about the vast number of pigeons that haunt the steeples of our churches. And the First Presbyterian church seems to be the meeting place for all kinds. Here they come, and here they roost, waiting for the morning, when they again go over the city foraging.

Every now and then Pa New notes a report that some auto driver fails to stop when a stop sign is displayed in the city school zones. The heaviest fine that is possible should be imposed by the mayor upon any such

Plan Dynamiting Tuscarawas River Near New Philadelphia For Body Of Girl

CONFESSED SLAYER IS HELD IN JAIL

Wife Of Slayer Faints When Told By Husband That Confession Stands

(International News Service)
NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 11.—Plans went ahead today to dynamite the Tuscarawas river, which Sheriff Abe Laird believes holds the body of Viola May, 23, choked to death last Tuesday night by William D. Herron, 41, her sister's husband, according to his alleged confession.

At the same time Prosecutor James Patrick announced that Herron will be held in Tuscarawas county jail "until a charge of murder is lodged against him."

This statement was taken to mean that Patrick believes the body will be recovered, otherwise under the laws of this state Herron can be tried only for assault with intent to murder.

The efforts of a score of men who raked the bottom of Tuscarawas river from White's bridge to Dover have been unsuccessful thus far. Nevertheless, Sheriff Laird, who obtained Herron's alleged confession, feels certain the body will be found.

Plan Defense
Meantime, the attorney retained by Herron's wife, mother and sisters to defend him, Russell C. Bowers, former prosecuting attorney, held a conference with the prisoner. He indicated that insanity may be the defense.

The state, discrediting the defendant's alleged statement that he had been intimate with Miss May over a period of four years, was reported developing the theory that after twice attacking the girl, Herron and she engaged in an argument over her refusal to lend him $1,500.
At first the wife refused to believe her husband's connection with the crime. When he confessed to her in jail she collapsed in a faint. But she is taking an active part in conference with the defense attorney.

Levine Seeking Endurance Mark Damages Plane

HOPES TO BREAK ENDURANCE RECORD

In Take-Off Today At Field Plane Is Ditched; Levine, Stultz Unhurt

(International News Service)
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Charles A. Levine, trans-Atlantic flier, and Lieut. Wilmer Stultz, commercial pilot, were forced to postpone their proposed attempt to capture the world's endurance flight record, when their monoplane, the "Columbia," met with an accident as they were taking off today. The tail skid of the machine was smashed but neither of the occupants was injured.

The attempted take-off was made at precisely 10 o'clock. After saying their farewells to relatives and friends Levine and Stultz started the "Columbia" down the runway, with Stultz at the stick. Two hundred feet from the starting point, however, Stultz swerved the plane suddenly to avoid striking an automobile which stood directly in the path of the plane and a tail skid and the rudder post broke. There was a rush toward the plane. Levine climbed out sheepishly. He was unhurt. He was followed by Stultz and both began an examination of the plane.

"I don't think it's damaged very badly," said Levine. "We'll take off tomorrow. This is sure a bad break of luck."

NEGOTIATIONS ARE ON FOR SALE OF CONDUIT

Indications are that the city will sell the municipal conduit system to the Bell Telephone company for $65,000, in the near future, legal technicalities having been adjusted as the result of a conference between City Solicitor Robert M. White and Attorney Marye, legal department of the telephone company, Friday, at Philadelphia.

At Conference
White journeyed to the Philadelphia conference at the direction of city council. He was designated to inform the company's legal representative the basis on which the city would sell the conduit.
Recently the Bell Telephone company sent proposed ordinances which the company desired adopted. Council did not wish to do this as it was believed passage would involve other companies.

White stated that as solicitor for the city he then prepared ordinances which council believed should be written and he presented the ordinances for the information of the telephone company.

After perusing the different proposed bills, Attorney Marye agreed that the city's bills were satisfactory to the company and legal obstacles no longer block the indicated sale.

Believe Sale Good Move
Council believes that the sale of the system will be a good move. The system will be a good move. The system will be a good move.

Pittsburgh Mine Rescue Car To Make Long Trip To Canadian Disaster

(International News Service)
TIMMINS, Ont., Feb. 11.—Two special trains, one from Toronto, the other from Pittsburgh, carrying a mine rescue car, gas masks and other fire fighting equipment, are enroute here today to aid in the rescue work at Hollinger mine, where 47 men are known dead and 47 others are trapped by fire.

Rescue efforts cannot be resumed until late today, it is believed, on account of the gas, smoke and flames. After dying down early last night, the fire grew worse again at midnight.

This is the first major tragedy in the history of the Ontario gold fields. The fire is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion at a dump on the 550-foot level.

It was sometime before the seriousness of the situation was realized and the 1,000 miners could be warned in all sections of the workings. Carbon monoxide gas soon permeated the workings to such an extent that gas masks were useless. A canary lowered in a cage lived two minutes.

To Start Longest Trip.
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11.—A mine rescue car of the U. S. Bureau of Mines will start one of the longest rescue trips on record at the local bureau when it leaves today for Timmins, Ontario, where 47 miners are reported entombed.

The rescue car raced into Pittsburgh this morning from Jenners, Pa., where the crew had been on duty, given the right of way over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. As soon as supplies are taken aboard, the rescuers will start for Canada.

Seventeen or eighteen of the most capable rescuers in the service of the Bureau of Mines will make the trip. Daniel Harrington, chief engineer of the bureau's safety division, will be in charge of the crew.

William Floyd Donaldson Dies As Result Of Injuries Sustained Friday

FALLS FROM ROOF OF REPAIR SHOP

As the result of injuries sustained Friday when he fell from the roof of a repair shop on Diamond Way, in the rear of the First Christian church where he was repairing a chimney, William Floyd Donaldson, aged 18 years, son of T. W. Donaldson and Margaret Smith Donaldson of 701 Oak street, died Friday evening at 5 o'clock in the New Castle hospital.

The young man sustained a concussion of the brain and injuries about his head and neck. He never regained consciousness after the fall.

Just how Mr. Donaldson happened to lose his balance and fall is not known as no one was with him at the time. His companion with whom he was working had left the roof and had gone into the shop. The building he was working on is the property of the church.

Toll Of Explosion At Everett, Mass., Reaches Thirteen

Ten Bodies Are Recovered In Ruins Of Fire Wrecked Oil Plant

THIRTY-TWO INJURED TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Three Joint Probes Of Disaster Are Now In Progress At Scene

(International News Service)
EVERETT, Mass., Feb. 11.—Death toll in the explosion and fire horror at the plant of the Beacon Oil Company was swelled to 13 today.

Ten bodies were found within the ruined plant by firemen as soon as they were able to battle their way inside.

Today two injured died at Massachusetts General hospital, Boston. In addition workers today sighted a body of a man jammed in the wreckage. This brought the known dead to 13. Firemen and other searchers continued to dig in the debris for other bodies. Four workmen are missing.

Identify Victims
The identified dead are Charles Polier and Ezekiah Mudgett of Wakefield, who died at Massachusetts General hospital today; Michael Burgess of Charlestown; John Collins of Cambridge; George Doherty, 42, married, father of nine children; Michael Gilligan of Malden; Joseph Ladrigian of Everett; Donald McInnes of Everett; Peter Rausco, 25, of Everett, foreman of oil works; Peter Davis, 23, of East Somerville.

While firemen were still digging in the debris three joint probes of the disaster were under way to determine the cause of the explosion and fire that followed and to fix the responsibility.

All except a few of the 32 injured at various hospitals were expected to recover. Six persons were injured seriously.

All that was known was that one of the low pressure vaporizers in one of the distilling buildings blew up. This blast was followed by several smaller explosions. In the oil houses oil is distilled under high pressure to a vapor which runs through a vaporizer. The gasoline, reduced to liquid, runs off to huge storage tanks. There is a battery of 20 still houses, each of which has a high vaporized tower. It

SENATE COMMITTEES CONDUCT HEARINGS

Three Important Points To Be Considered In Senate Investigations

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Two different senatorial investigations of conditions existing in the Pennsylvania bituminous coal fields were virtually assured today following preliminary hearings on the strike situation conducted by Senate committees.

While the committee on interstate commerce late yesterday was agreeing unanimously to favorably recommend some sort of investigation, the judiciary committee, meeting in another part of the capitol, was seriously considering the proposal made by its chairman, Senator George Norris of Nebraska, calling for a special inquiry into the issuance of injunctions by the federal courts of Pennsylvania and elsewhere.

Believes In Hearings
Senator Norris was determined that such an investigation should be conducted by his committee, and he is said to be prepared to press the matter to a conclusion. Further hearings

Attorneys Make New Appeal For Slayer Of Girl

Passing Of Sentence In Case Is Delayed Until Tuesday

SEEK NEW TRIAL BY ACTION FRIDAY

Declare "Fox" Deprived Of Right Of Trial By Jury In Case

(By ARTHUR L. MAREK)
International News Service Staff Correspondent
COURTROOM, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Contending that William Edward Hickman has been deprived of the right of a trial by jury on the charge of kidnapping and murdering little Marion Parker, counsel for William Edward Hickman today asked that "the fox" be granted a new trial.

Sentence, which was to have been pronounced by Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, was continued until Tuesday morning.

He set 9:30 Tuesday morning as the hour for hearing the defense motion. This morning's proceedings lasted less than 10 minutes.

Contending that Hickman had been deprived of the right of a trial by jury, due to the proceedings under the new California law governing the defense of insanity in criminal cases, Jerome Walsh, chief counsel for Hickman, entered the motion for a new trial on the grounds that the proceedings were in contravention of both the federal and state constitution.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 11.—The legal battle to save William Edward Hickman from the noose showed indications today of stretching out over a prolonged period of time, as guards prepared to escort the convicted kidnaper-killer of Marion Parker to Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco's court, where he will be arraigned for sentence.

Go to Supreme Court
It was regarded as virtually certain that Hickman's case will go to the California supreme court. If Judge Trabucco denies defense attorneys' request for a new trial, an appeal will probably be taken to the higher tribunal based on the contention that the new statute under which Hickman was tried is unconstitutional.

The new law, which allowed Hickman to enter a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity," places only the question of sanity in the hands of the jury, leaving the determination of the degree of guilt up to the judge. From this particular phase of the New Hickman's attorneys are expected to mold their argument of unconstitutionality.

Hundreds Attend Farmers Meeting

Program At Cathedral Sponsored By Universal Sales Company Most Interesting

About 600 farmers registered at the morning session of the farmers meeting sponsored yesterday by the Universal Sales Company and at the afternoon session held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral nearly 1,200 gathered for the program consisting of several addresses and motion pictures of the production of the new Ford car. The forenoon meeting consisted of the exhibition of cars, trucks and farm machinery with their demonstration. In the afternoon the meeting was held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral where the main address was made by Prof. R. V. Blasingame of Pennsylvania State College on the topic "Application of Power on the Farm." Welcome speech was made by Fred L. Rentz acting for H. R. McCulloch state farm agent who was unable to be present. Other speakers were J. Audley Boak, Master of the State Grange and A. F. Nelson, assistant manager of the Ford Motor Co. Prof. Blasingame said that the achievement of the farmer's position in his mind did not lie so much in higher prices for his products as much as in a decrease in the cost of production.

Mr. Rentz in his welcome address said that New Castle wished to co-operate with the farmers of the district as much as possible and that a most friendly feeling existed between the farmers of the county and the merchants of the city.

About $150 in prizes were given to those holding lucky tickets the prizes being furnished by several merchants of the city and drawn at the end of the program yesterday afternoon.

From the long distance view gained by Pa New, it appears that progress on the addition to the senior high school is going exceptionally slow. We do not know "the why" of this delay.

According to postal officials a large number of valentines are now being received in the mails and they will continue until Valentine Day on next Tuesday.

Valentines that are posted at the New Castle postoffice are of all sizes and shapes and of all weights. Assist Postmaster James G. Leslie. Yet the monstrous valentines that were sent ten or more years ago have passed out of use and most of them are of convenient size being in the form of cards or folders placed in good envelopes.

tem is in need of repair and the manholes, it is said, are too small for modern cables.

The Bell company has been paying a rental of $2,463, annually and in some instances has made repairs and rebuilt manholes. The company also owns several of its own conduits here.

The city conduit is located in the business district and originally this reported cost in excess of the amount the company has offered, $65,000.

Discussing the proposed sale today Solicitor White said it is the opinion of council that the $65,000, which may be the sale price can be expended for various needed improvements this year.

He said, however, that should the voters oppose the sale they could stop it by presenting a petition to council carrying 20 percent of the voters names.

The ordinance providing for the sale may be introduced Monday when council meets formally.

ANTI-THIRD TERM MEASURE PASSES IN SENATE VOTE

as a body, which impressed politicians today with the futility of attempting to "draft" Coolidge—even if he were acquiescent.

Most of the Republican votes in favor of the resolution came from the progressive group, but there was a sprinkling of regular votes as well. Senator Gillett of Massachusetts was one of the regulars who voted in favor of it. He has been at times the White House spokesman on the floor of the Senate.

There was some rare debate and political play featured the hours of debate that preceded the final vote. As originally introduced, there was a final paragraph to the resolution which said: "The Senate commends the observance of this tradition by the president."

Fess Leads Fight

Senator Fess (R) of Ohio, the leader of the "draft Coolidge" movement, led a strenuous fight to knock out this clause, whereupon Senator La Follette ironically observed that if the president's friends did not wish to compliment him for observing the tradition he was willing to withdraw it.

And Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, humorously observed that the president's "own" friends are insulting him by professing not to believe the sincerity of his self-elimination.

An effort will be made to pass the La Follette resolution in the House. Rep. Beck (R) of Wisconsin sponsored it. However, administration leaders in the lower branch decided themselves against it.

Rep. Dyer (R) of Missouri, chairman of the judiciary committee, said it would be given consideration, but he denounced the measure as "a lot of foolishness" and predicted it would not be given a majority vote in the committee.

"The people are well able to take care of themselves in this matter of the two-term tradition," said Dyer, "and Congress can find much more important work than this meaningless resolution."

The House in Grant's time passed an anti-third term resolution similar to that which passed the Senate yesterday. The Senate's vote, however, was the first time in history that the upper branch had ever expressed an opinion on the tradition.

was in one of these stills that the explosion came with blinding force. Blows from Perches.

Workmen on platforms surrounding the towers and vaporizers were blown from their perches.

Throughout the night huge arc lights threw a glare over the ruins of the various buildings destroyed by explosions of fire, and dawn found hysterical women—wives, mothers, sisters and daughters outside the police line.

One official theory of the explosion was the failure of a low pressure vaporizer behind some of the fresher stills to function.

President Richard B. Kahle of the Beacon Oil Company, who advanced this theory, stated that none of the high pressure equipment exploded.

Busy firemen and residents of this city, which had been rocked by the first blast, did not realize the awful menace until the fire was well under way. Ten storage tanks, holding 400,000 gallons of gasoline and inflammable by-products of gasoline were directly in the path of the flames and fire reached the big storage tanks, fire officials said, a terrible catastrophe would have resulted.

in the event that their request for a new trial is denied.

Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, and Richard Cantillon, his associate, prepared today to appear before Judge Trabucco at the time of arraignment for sentence and move for a new trial. It is probable that the judge will defer pronouncement of sentence until Tuesday to allow Walsh and Cantillon the opportunity of arguing their motion.

No Hint of Sentence.

Although Judge Trabucco has given no positive forecast of the nature of the sentence which he intends to impose, it is believed that he will sentence Hickman to death on the gallows. He has said that he will give the defendant "all that the law allows."

Upon Judge Trabucco's determination of the degree of Hickman's guilt depends the question of whether life imprisonment or hanging will be the sentence.

The possibility that the judge may seek further evidence before passing sentence appeared in current reports that he planned to call Perry M. Parker, father of the murdered girl, and other witnesses before him.

Meanwhile the convicted Kansas City youth maintained his quiescence in his cell in the county jail. As the moment of his appearance for sentence drew near he put to rest rumors that he would make a demonstration or speech after hearing Judge Trabucco's decision.

"I'm not going to do anything," he said, "and I'm not going to do anything when they put me on the gallows, either. I've got sense enough to go through with it. I went through with everything else I've ever started."

Although Hickman faces another murder charge, together with his former accomplice, Welby Hunt, 16, indications were that District Attorney Asa Keyes would not prosecute, but would rest on the "sane" verdict in the Marion Parker kidnapping-murder trial. Hickman and Hunt are jointly charged with the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, druggist, during a gun duel on Christmas eve, 1926.

Both Hickman and Hunt accuse each other of firing the bullet that killed Thoms.

DEATHS OF THE DAY

Mrs. Elizabeth Walker.

Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, aged 75, well-known resident of North Beaver township, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Ferguson of Dennison, Kansas, Thursday evening, Feb. 9, following a prolonged illness. word to friends here states.

Mrs. Walker had lived for many years in North Beaver township until about two years ago. As the daughter of a farmer, she and her husband had a large farm and a large family.

ATTORNEYS MAKE NEW APPEAL FOR SLAYER OF GIRL

in the event that their request for a new trial is denied.

Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, and Richard Cantillon, his associate, prepared today to appear before Judge Trabucco at the time of arraignment for sentence and move for a new trial. It is probable that the judge will defer pronouncement of sentence until Tuesday to allow Walsh and Cantillon the opportunity of arguing their motion.

No Hint of Sentence.

Although Judge Trabucco has given no positive forecast of the nature of the sentence which he intends to impose, it is believed that he will sentence Hickman to death on the gallows. He has said that he will give the defendant "all that the law allows."

Upon Judge Trabucco's determination of the degree of Hickman's guilt depends the question of whether life imprisonment or hanging will be the sentence.

The possibility that the judge may seek further evidence before passing sentence appeared in current reports that he planned to call Perry M. Parker, father of the murdered girl, and other witnesses before him.

Meanwhile the convicted Kansas City youth maintained his quiescence in his cell in the county jail. As the moment of his appearance for sentence drew near he put to rest rumors that he would make a demonstration or speech after hearing Judge Trabucco's decision.

"I'm not going to do anything," he said, "and I'm not going to do anything when they put me on the gallows, either. I've got sense enough to go through with it. I went through with everything else I've ever started."

Although Hickman faces another murder charge, together with his former accomplice, Welby Hunt, 16, indications were that District Attorney Asa Keyes would not prosecute, but would rest on the "sane" verdict in the Marion Parker kidnapping-murder trial. Hickman and Hunt are jointly charged with the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, druggist, during a gun duel on Christmas eve, 1926.

Both Hickman and Hunt accuse each other of firing the bullet that killed Thoms.

DEATHS OF THE DAY

Mrs. Elizabeth Walker.

Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, aged 75, well-known resident of North Beaver township, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Ferguson of Dennison, Kansas, Thursday evening, Feb. 9, following a prolonged illness. word to friends here states.

FATHER-SON BANQUET AT BETHANY CHURCH

Covers were arranged for eighty-five for the annual banquet of fathers and sons of the congregation of Bethany Lutheran church which was an event of Friday evening.

An elaborate menu was served in the church dining room at 6:30 at attractively appointed tables decorated with basket of tulips. Dr. W. C. Burchfield acted as toast master. Talks along the line of the relationship between fathers and sons in regard to church work were given by Rev. Claude Downs of the Savannah M. E. church, E. J. Berquist of the City Mission, Rev. F. E. Stough of St. John's Lutheran church, Rev. Oscar Woods of Bethany church. All of the talks were very interesting and were much appreciated by those present.

Special musical features of the evening were selections by a quartet comprised by David Morgan, Fred Robinson, Robert Watson and W. E. McMillen accompanied by Mrs. McMillen and a solo number by Arthur Hulbert accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Hulbert. A humorous solo was also given by U. S. Choenis which was much enjoyed.

A fine spirit of fellowship prevailed throughout the entire evening. The affair was considered one of the most delightful social events held in the church during the year.

Rose of Sharon Class

Members of the Rose of Sharon class were entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Beck of Walnut street. Fourteen members were present. Miss Betty Ward was a special guest.

JUBILEE MONTH IS BIG SUCCESS

Theatre Going Public Appreciates Big Attractions Appearing At The Penn

Speer Marousis, manager of the Penn Theatre is more than pleased with the response of the theatre-going public in helping make Jubilee Month such a success and feels that his efforts have been well rewarded.

The closing picture of the second week of Jubilee Month, "The Shepherd of the Hills," by Harold Bell Wright, will be shown for the last time tonight. Those who have not availed themselves of the opportunity to see this wonderful picture should come to the Penn Theatre tonight.

Jubilee attraction number three starts Monday, February 13th and will continue all week. "The Cohens and Kellys in Paris," starring George Sidney, J. Farrell MacDonald and Kate Price. An attraction worth going miles to see. It is without a doubt the funniest picture shown on the screen today. Better than "Cohens and Kellys."

Jubilee attraction number four which follows "The Cohens and Kellys in Paris," will appear during the week of February 20. The Private Life of Helen of Troy, Marie Corda, Lewis Stone and Ricardo Cortez play the three principal parts. Helen makes the jazz-age look like slow music. When Helen went for a joy-ride they sent a thousand ships to bring her back.

Mr. Marousis wishes to announce the banner attraction of all, which appears at Penn Theatre during week of March 12th. Daisy and Violet Hilton, San Antonio's Siamese Twins, born joined together. The only living Siamese Twins today. They dance, play musical instruments and other entertaining stunts. The "Siamese Twins" will appear in person.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR BALL IS SUCCESS

One of the most successful dances of the season was presented in the Scottish Rite Cathedral Ballroom on Friday evening when the first of a series was sponsored by Lawrence Commandery 63, Knights Templar. Some 250 couples were present, many of them being from other cities.

Viscount Escher is the new governor of Windsor Castle is 75 years old and for half a century has been a well known figure in British public life though never an active politician in the strict sense of the word. Lord Escher was educated at Eton and Cambridge. For several years he acted as private secretary to the Marquis of Hartington and in 1880 entered Parliament. He was prominent in the organization of the territorial forces and after the war he held the important position of chairman of the war office reconstruction committee. Lord Escher is well known in the literary world. Among the best known books are "The Correspondence of Queen Victoria" and "The Girlhood of Queen Victoria." He has been deputy governor of Windsor Castle a trustee of the British museum and a governor of the Imperial College of Science.

ROCKEFELLER IS WITNESS BEFORE SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE

402,280 shares. The Rockefeller Foundation has 460,760 shares, the University of Chicago holds 30,000 shares, there is also a trust fund of slightly more than 500,000 shares held by the Equitable Trust Company under a trust set up by my father for my two sisters.

"My own holding, as you will readily see, is about 4 1/2 per cent of the capital stock. The Rockefeller Foundation's share is a trifle over five per cent. I am chairman of the board and chairman of the finance committee of the Foundation.

"The University of Chicago holds less than one per cent. I am not connected in any way with that institution.

"All of this stockholding is just under 15 per cent of the capital stock. I want to make this clear, because I have been judged by published reports that there is a popular misunderstanding about this.

"My sense of responsibility and obligations makes me want to do everything in my power to uncover everything connected with this important situation.

"I have a great appreciation of the work this committee is doing.

"I am more anxious than even you gentlemen to get all the facts about this oil deal.

"I view with you the important public interest at stake here. More than that, I have large investments in this industry. More than that, my father was the founder of the oil industry and there are additional reasons why I should be more eager than you that you get all the facts.

"The whole oil industry is under suspicion.

"The business structure of the whole country is under suspicion. The cynic is asking whether there is anything like basic integrity in business. I hope all the facts will be brought to light and the cloud of suspicion that has covered it, will be dispelled."

Rockefeller asked the committee to "bear with me another moment," and Walsh said "go ahead."

The oil king then said he had every confidence in the integrity of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana.

"I am bitterly disappointed—more so than you are—in his refusal to answer all your questions," said Rockefeller.

"I totally disagree with him as to the wisdom of the position he has taken."

The oil king told of trying three years ago to persuade Stewart to testify. He said he had wired officials of the Standard of Indiana in March, 1925, telling them to tell Stewart "your absence from the company at this time, although it is on business of your company, also Blackmer's absence, are being misconstrued and bringing suspicion on your company, on yourself and on the stockholders, including myself. I strongly urge you to take such steps as will remove this suspicion."

"Cool, Stewart showed resentment at implications in my telegram that he had purposely absented himself from the country," said Rockefeller. "I meant no such implication."

"He stated to me that as far as he himself and his company was concerned, the transaction was not improper.

"He stated further that he was thoroughly of the belief that the transaction was in the best interests of his company and the best he could make."

"I believe then and I believe now that Col. Stewart told the truth to this committee. He reiterated these statements last Monday in his interview with me when I expressed my disappointment that he had not answered your question and differed with him in the propriety of his course of conduct. I must affirm that I believe in the integrity of Col. Stewart."

Rockefeller declared he would do everything he could to help "in exposing the wrong that apparently has been done."

"I am watching this situation with the greatest interest," he added.

He said he could either believe in the integrity of an executive of his companies or disbelieve him if he failed to have that confidence.

"I am prepared in this instance, as in other cases involving my stock holdings, to act on the evidence," said Rockefeller, without saying which way he would act.

"When I no longer can maintain confidence in the integrity of an official, I will withdraw my support from him."

Rockefeller gave his views on "good business methods."

"I believe the business of the country should be done in a sound and fair way," he said.

"I want no profits derived from a compromise with right. I want no profits produced by officers or employees who have compromised with right."

"I have given my life to philanthropic endeavors. I am not an active business man, but hold stock in many companies."

LOCAL MAN IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

D. M. Smith, 310 East North street, accidentally shot a number of weeks ago in Beaver county by Constable B. Frank Kider, while they were engaged in making a liquor raid, is in a very critical condition as a result of the wounds sustained at the time. He is in the Rochester General Hospital, where he has been confined since the accidental shooting and doubts are expressed that he will be able to recover from the effects of his wound.

Numerous operations have been performed in the effort to save his life, but it is now feared that he cannot recover.

CLAIM BOYS BROKE INTO COTTAGE ON SLIPPERY ROCK CREEK

Lyle Nemo of 723 Oak street and Walter Ecklund of 819 Oak street, were turned over to Sheriff H. W. Reynolds Friday evening on a charge of having broken into the cottage of B. F. Butler on the Slippery Rock creek. It is claimed that some fishing tackle and other articles are missing. The boys were placed in jail and an information will be made.

SOLDERING IRON CAUSES FIRE SCARE

When residents of the Moore Heirs block on North Mercer street, smelled something burning this morning at 5:30 o'clock, a still alarm was turned into the central fire station. The chief and an assistant responded and after gaining admittance to the radio store of G. H. Walter & Company, found an electric soldering iron, in which the current was turned on and which had burned a hole in a bench and some papers.

The Cure.

I've stood about when Old Trouble came my way.

I've stood and looked at the wreckage of the day.

I've stood around For an hour or two and frowned.

I've muttered bitter things and grumbled at my fate.

But time was flying by While I lingered there to sigh

And I learned that for a whiner the minutes never wait.

I've stood and whimpered when disaster came to me.

But the wreckage still was lying there for every one to see.

Not a stick jumped out of line To the music of my whine.

By my wallings and my sobbings not a single stone was moved.

And the morning slipped away But my trouble chose to stay.

And the hardships I was facing there were not a bit improved.

Oh, it hurts to get a spill and a man must wait it out.

But get busy while you're grieving and don't idly stand about.

For Old Trouble can't be downed By a man who mopes around;

Howsoever he may grumble still the wreckage will remain.

So don't waste a single day. Clear the shattered hopes away.

For the only cure for losses is to get to work again.

Everybody used to know Pittsburgh as the roughest, dirtiest city. Come experts now and Pittsburgh's name is cleared. St. Louis has 17,600 dust particles per cubic foot. That's the largest dust count in the country and St. Louis is the dirtiest city. Cincinnati is next with 16,700 dust particles to the cubic foot. Pittsburgh is respectably third.

BIG AND RICH

No rich man is ever a big man until he learns to give. He simply can't be, for unless he has the desire to give in a large way he does not have within him the qualities of greatness.

In Detroit not long ago a simple communication to the city council, asking that sewage facilities be extended into a certain neighborhood, revealed the fact that Fred Fisher, vice president of the General Motors corporation, had given a million dollars toward the erection of a new building for the Little Sisters of the Poor, a Catholic organization for charity.

Not long ago Mr. and Mrs. Fisher gave $750,000 for a nurses' home in connection with a hospital.

Learning to feel one's responsibility in proportion to one's income is learning one of the fundamental lessons of civilization. Without the spirit of giving in a generous way there can be no civilization worthy of the name.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

to which Welsh is used in any school depends greatly on the attitude and ability of the local management.

Practice varies widely.

The Sunday schools attended by scholars of all ages, and for generations the only institutions in which the children of Wales were taught to read their own tongue, are in a flourishing condition. Linked with the church are the young people's guilds and the Welsh dramatic associations.

In public administration, though English is the language of the courts, witnesses may testify in Welsh; Welsh versions of important laws are available; the Board of Health issues many of its publications in Welsh; and appointees to public offices in Wales are usually competent to speak, read and write the language.

Against these many agencies operating to preserve and further the Welsh tongue is a series of social and economic forces threatening it with "suffocation by an extraneous language."

Recognition of its value in an educational system has come only recently and the committee feels that both authorities and teachers have "shown timidity in the face of increasing Anglicizing influence, and too great readiness to retreat before growing difficulties and to restrict the place of Welsh in the schools."

Church Congress Seeks Union Of Presbyterians

Delegates From Eight Denominations To Meet At Lancaster, February 23 And 29

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—A gigantic interdenominational church congress of representatives from all Presbyterian churches in the western hemisphere has been called to meet in Lancaster, Pa., February 23 and 29. Dr. Henry B. Master, American secretary of the western section of the world-wide Alliance of Presbyterian Reformed churches, announced today.

The congress will have for its chief object the advancement of church unity and progress towards denominational union. Delegates have been summoned from all states in the union and Canada. In the coming convention, Oliver B. Williamson of Chicago, a church leader, sees a serious movement along the line of church union and expects Presbyterians to take an initial step in the movement.

George W. Wickham of New York, a former attorney general of the United States and one of the leading Episcopalian church workers, is to address the delegates on "The Churches and International Goodwill." President J. Ross Stevenson of Princeton Theological seminary will review the recent Lausanne international conference on church union.

Other addresses on church union will be made by Dr. George W. Richards of Lancaster, Pa.; Dr. Arthur J. Brown of New York and Dr. T. A. Moore of Toronto. Dr. W. I. Wishart of Pittsburgh is expected to make a plea for religious unity in his discussion on the alliance's relation and progress towards church union. Dr. Peter Ainslie of Baltimore will speak on developments of cooperation among the denominations tending towards church unity.

Official delegates from the following denominations will be present: Presbyterian church of Canada, United church of Canada, Presbyterian church in the United States and Southern branches, Associated Reformed Presbyterian church, Reformed church in America and the United States, United Presbyterian church and the general synod, Reformed Presbyterian church.

A report of a committee for the establishment of a consensus of creeds will be made by Dr. John McNaughton, Canada, the District of Columbia, Alabama, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin will be represented.

Pennsylvania's delegates include Revs. William T. Fulton, Lewis B. Ellis, Philip E. Howard, John B. Leach, J. J. Gillespie and John McNaughton, all of Pittsburgh. Charles L. Huston, Coatesville; Alva E. Johnson, Rosemont; Henry B. McCormick, Harrisburg; President E. D. Warfield of Wilson college, Chambersburg; Rev. D. F. McGill, Bellevue; W. W. Asbach, Milton; Revs. Charles E. Creitz and Elmer L. Coblenz, Reading; Rev. George W. Richards and John W. Appel, Lancaster; A. R. Brodbeck, Hanover; and George L. Omwake, Collegedale.

Revs. James A. Kels, W. I. Wishart, Clarence E. Macgregor, William I. McEwan, T. J. Gillespie and John McNaughton, all of Pittsburgh.

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN—Dr. Charles E. Wingerd, minister. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m., George R. McClelland, presiding. Morning service at 11 o'clock. Sermon, "A Stack of Reasons for Believing the Bible." Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m., leader, Miss Edith Lowry. Lincoln night, 7:45 p. m. Singing by the Jubilee quartet from the Second Baptist church. Message by Dr. Wingerd, "Lessons from Lincoln."

UNION BAPTIST—C. D. Henderson, minister. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Callie Williams, superintendent. Praise service by G. F. Brown and James McArthur at 10:45 a. m. sermon at 11 a. m., "The Scientific Aspect of Prayer," sermon at 3 p. m. by Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 p. m., Mrs. Georgia King in charge. Evening sermon at 7:30. "The Winning Church."

BETHEL A. M. E.—N. Green street, Rev. William Hodge, pastor. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m., Thomas Farrow, supt. Sermon at 11 a. m. by the pastor, subject, "What Does It Mean To Be Buried With Christ By Baptism?" At 3 p. m. program by the senior stewards board, presenting the Light of America; Mrs. Julia Wilkes president. A. C. E. League at 6 p. m., Theodore Jackson, president. Prayer meeting at 7 p. m. by pastor, subject, "Justifying Faith."

SECOND UNITED PRESBYTERIAN—A. J. Randles, minister. Dr. W. Charles Wallace of New Wilmington will occupy the pulpit at 11 a. m. and

Homely Kingdom Parables

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

We all appreciate a picture, an author gives us to illustrate his point. In this lesson Jesus gives in his parables such an array of word pictures in quick succession and delightful variety as almost deserve to be called a moving picture of his Kingdom.

He likened the kingdom of heaven to a man going forth to sow his seed, and pictured the varied attitudes of men in the hard wayside soil where his gospel could take no hold; or to the shallow, rocky soil where it could get but a superficial and temporary hold; then to the thorny ground where its hold was disputed by such growths as the lusts of pleasure and riches; and finally to the good soil of honest hearts where rootage resulted in fruitage. So the results of the teaching of this lesson depend upon those who are taught as well as upon the one who teaches. But the kingdom comes by sowing. The gospel of the kingdom must be sown broadcast from pulpit, press and microphone.

The Kingdom of God Requires Growing
Jesus' next parable pictures the responsibility of those who hear the gospel of the kingdom. If it is the teacher's duty to sow, it is the pupils' duty to grow. "Is a candle brought to be put under a bushel, or under a bed? and not to be set on a candlestick?" The gospel has lighted us that we may lighten others. We are blessed only to be a blessing.

The Kingdom of God Requires Growing
The parable of these disappointing soils to a fruitful one, and the other parable of lights obscured by bushels would have given a most discouraging outlook for the kingdom were it not for Jesus' next picture: "So is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed into the ground; and should sleep and rise night and day, and the seed should spring and grow up, he knoweth not how." First, the blade then the ear, then the full corn in the ear. So it is ours to plant; God gives the increase, only let us not be surprised if it come gradually. Seed, blade, ear, full corn. Thus he pictures the kingdom growing in the individual heart and life. For our further encouragement he pictured the kingdom's growth in the world by the parable of the mustard seed. "It is like a grain of mustard seed, which, when it is sown in the earth is less than all the seeds that be in the earth; but when it is sown it groweth up, and becometh greater than all herbs, and shooteth out great branches, so that the fowls of the air may lodge under the shadow of it." So let not the King's subjects despise the day of small things! The church began with Christ, then the twelve apostles, then the one hundred and twenty Spirit-filled disciples on Pentecost, then the three thousand baptized on that same day, and so on until in three hundred years the religion of Jesus conquers the Roman Empire and continues to grow until today its branches have gone out into all the earth.

The International Uniform Lesson for Feb. 12 is Mark 1:14, 15 and 4:24, the subject, "being." Jesus pictures the Kingdom of God, and the Golden Text, Matthew 6:10, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

HILLSVILLE

First Methodist church, Leon L. Woodin, minister. Sabbath school 10 a. m., Milo Paden, superintendent. Morning worship 11 o'clock, theme, "Abraham Lincoln." The pastor will endeavor to give the spiritual significance of the life of our "martyr president." Evening service 7:30 p. m., the 3rd lecture on Revelation, a study of chapter 4.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha Williams with Miss Margaret Smith and Mrs. Lena Gilmore associate hostesses. The regular business was taken up after which Rev. Woodin gave the chapter of the study course. The following were present: Mrs. Mary Houlette, Mrs. Bertha Latchshaw, Mrs. Lydia Stacy, Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Woodin, Mrs. Jean Martin, Mrs. Austin Welker, Mrs. Lydia Paden, Mrs. Jennie Hillish, Mrs. Martha McCombs, Mrs. Addie Smith. The special guests were Masters Harold Welker, Donald Martin, Junior Latchshaw and Miss Ruth Smith.

Thursday evening, February 16, in the main school building, there will be held a special meeting for the Betterment of Our Schools. Attorney Abraham of New Castle and others will speak.

Mrs. Martha McCombs, Mrs. Jennie Hillish were visiting Lovellville, Friday.

Mrs. Sarah McCord of Mt. Jackson, spent Thursday as the guest of Mrs. W. W. Gilmore.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son Robert Clair Spence who died Jan. 14th, 1928. Age 16 years. Gone from us, dear Clair, Your voice so dear is still. We try to be brave in our sorrow. We know 'twas the Lord's will. But, Oh, the bitter heartaches, the longings to see you again; God only knows how we miss you; Calling you back in vain. Clair our dear, we miss you. Why did they take you from us And why did you have to go? Never to see you, never to hear you. So is the longing too hard to know. Sadly missed by parents, brothers and sister. Adv. 11"

Temple Israel To Play Three Games

Playing three games in four days, the Temple Israel team faces the busiest week of its season when they meet Casa Savoia, Tuesday, February 14; the Shamrocks on Wednesday, February 15, and the First M. E. church team, Friday night, February 17.

So far, Temple Israel has had a very successful season, having won 16 out of 21 games played. A 23 to 21 defeat at the hands of the First Christian church team recently was the fifth to be suffered by the Temple quintet.

He That Saith, I Know Him, and Keepeth Not His Commandments, Is a Liar, and the Truth is Not in Him, I John 2: 4.

He that committeth sin is of the devil—Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin—But whosoever hath this world's goods, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? I John 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 chapters. L. Schmidt, evangelist speaker, Sunday afternoon, 3 o'clock. Prayers, songs, testimonies, the Lord's supper and the ordinance of feet washing John 13. State Gas Tax For Year Will Total Twenty Millions (International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 11.—Pennsylvania motorists paid $11,197,364 in gasoline taxes during the last six months of 1927, State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis announced today. January 31 was the last day in which reports from dealers for the last quarter of 1927 could be paid legally.

In a statement accompanying the detailed gasoline tax report Lewis indicated he will oppose the proposed $500,000 state bond issue for road construction. The amendment will be voted on at the November election.

Without an increase in gasoline consumption during the present year, Lewis estimated the revenue for 1928 from that source will be in excess of $20,000,000, of which more than $17,000,000 will go to the motor fund. A ten percent increase in consumption during the year 1928 and 1929 will yield more than $37,000,000 for conduct of the highway department, Lewis said he asserted his estimate was conservative. On the bond issue, Lewis said:

"In a program of road construction on a pay-as-you-go basis, assuming that the entire amount was employed in the building of roads the state could build the same number of miles of road in two years and eight months as it can out of a $50,000,000, thirty year serial four percent bond issue. It costs approximately $61,000.00 to retire a $50,000,000 loan.

One sixth of the total gas tax collected in counties is returned. The apportionment to counties for the six month period included:

Allegheny, $261,912.15; Armstrong, $13,672.19; Beaver, $26,653.53; Butler, $21,226.48; Centre, $12,925.80; Clearfield, $18,092.96; Crawford, $17,094.47; Elk, $5,927.00; Erie, $45,182.97; Fayette, $38,192.60; Indiana, $14,216.70; Jefferson, $11,732.11; Lawrence, $22,615.61; Luzerne, $72,349.68; McKean, $12,943.44; Mercer, $20,983.79; Mifflin, $9,816.80; Philadelphia, $295,875.44; Venango, $17,143.61; Warren, $358.11; Washington, $37,276.87; Westmoreland, $55,441.04; Wayne, $7,624.10.

Plan To Celebrate Edison's Birthday In New York City

Eighty-First Birthday Of Famous Inventor Not To Go Unhonored

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The eighty-first birthday of Thomas A. Edison will be celebrated here tonight by the "Edison pioneers" despite the fact that the noted inventor himself is in Fort Myers, Fla.

Charles Edison, son of the inventor, will represent his father at the dinner. Later in the evening the pioneers will visit the studios of the Radio Corporation of America where they will witness talking movies taken of Edison last fall.

Lift Ten Pound Weight From Bottom Of Y. M. C. A. Pool

Seven members of the Y. M. C. A. Pioneer Bible Clubs passed tests in the swimming pool this morning, announces Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y., who is conducting the club.

Those who passed tests were: Ernest Snyder, Junior Brown, Ed. Rumbaugh, Emerson Davies, Bill Caven, Bob Golder and Frank Baldwin. One of the most difficult of the tests was diving for a ten pound weight, placed at the bottom of the pool.

Neither one of them was over ten years of age. And both of them were in a belligerent mood. Oh very. From what I heard it seemed as though one of the lads had said something about the other, and the one who had been defamed wanted satisfaction.

"What did you say about me?" he demanded truculently, putting a begrimed nose perilously near to the other lad's nose.

"Don't say nothing," retorted the lad, "but if you want a fight just start something."

Dirty looks passed back and forth, fists were doubled, and hot words were hurled, but still no action.

"Go ahead," warned the one, "just hit me, thass all, just hit me and see what happens."

"Yeah," jeered the other, "and if you're so good, just keep on, just keep on, I'm telling you and you'll get hurt."

There wasn't any fight. There usually isn't. Just two lads endeavoring to convince the other that he wasn't afraid to fight, but making certain that no overt action was committed that might start a fight.

It was a desolate looking automobile. Time had dealt harshly with it, the fenders were rusted and the top was grimy. The tires were smooth and it had no on chains. Which accounts for its position of rest in the ditch along the Wilmington road last night. Apparently it had tried to make a curve, the road was treacherous and the inevitable happened. A whirl and a twist, a skid and it had upset. And there it lay the poor thing, all upset and looking much like a truck horse that had seen his last day.

And while the subject of icy roads is being discussed, I would like to nominate those gentlemen of New Wilmington who asked Furnace Hill. Just as soon as the roads began to get glassy, they had a truck load of ashes out spreading them on that dangerous hill. And I hope each one of them never has a puncture. Which is just about the ultimate in wishes for a motorist.

Have you solved all the street and avenue puzzles yet? It does seem as though the contest has set New Castle on its ear, figuratively speaking, of course. Everybody you talk to has been working on it, and everybody has a couple of hard ones that they cannot solve. And the only man who can solve them is the chap who originated this contest and his name is as secret as that of the Silver Masked Tenor, at least until the contest is over.

Saw two telegrams yesterday, one from Orlando, Fla., and the other the answer. The one from Florida read something like this "Greens fine, water hazards terrible, bunkers atrocious, weather splendid. Am staying two more weeks. Will expect you."

The answer read something like this: "Ties rough, soles thin, corns sore, wife mumbling, duces wild, no mung, yakking."

Which means that the trip is off for that chap for a time at least.

The lawyers are beginning to quake in their shoes. The lawyers' banquet on February 23, promises to be a gridiron affair with no holds barred. Some of the lawyers can't afford the time to be there, but they're also afraid they can't afford to be absent. The axes and dull blunt instruments are being shined up for the slaughter.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES
Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn will still other words. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

THE CROWS' REVENGE

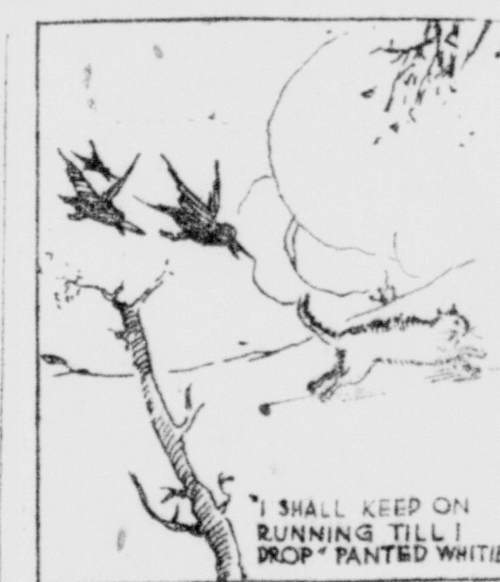

Hardly had their chieftain spoken when the crows began to form in line, two by two, and in almost no time at all off they started, with young Jimmy in the lead, flying close together and very near the ground, just as their leader had commanded.

Events had happened so quickly that Peter had been taken by surprise. The crows had left him before he had had a chance to say a word. There the boy stood, all alone, a deserted guest, and now for the first time he began to notice that his feet were growing cold. He stamped them up and down to get them warm again. "Birds are every bit as bad as insects," grumbled Peter, aloud. "One never can tell what they are going to do next. The idea of Father Crow insisting on my coming 'way over here to visit the tribe and then going off and forgetting all about me. I don't blame him much, though! I expect old White has caused all the birds a lot of trouble. I hardly ever saw that cat last spring when he didn't have a nestling in his mouth. What can the birds be going to do! I don't see how they try as they may, they can do very much to frighten that wild Tom cat. Good gracious! Look at that! White's afraid of the crows, as sure as I am born. See how he runs! I may as well hurry over and see what happens. There is no reason why I should stay around here."

By this time the crows were raising a great hubbub. The sight of their old enemy lashed them to fury. They scolded and screamed, and every now and again they would sink to the level of the snow—or so it seemed to the boy—and then, swift as arrows, soar up into the blue again.

As for White the cat, for once in his life at least, he was almost at his sharp wits' end.

"Oh, how I wish that I had left these crows' nests alone," mewed the cat, fearfully. "It is too late to think about that now, however. I am in for it, and I must save myself as best I can. Confound that black spot on my back, anyhow. It was stupid of me to forget it, for, of course, that is what attracted the keen eyes of the crows. The rest of my coat is so white that never in this world would they have been able to tell me from the snow.

"Where shall I go? Oh, where shall I hide? Not a friendly leaf in sight. The bushes are as bare as the branches, and there isn't a shelter in the field. Why did I ever venture into the open! Ouch! Meow! Meow! One crow caught me! There goes some of my fur. I can stand that if only the crows don't go for my eyes with their terrible beaks. How fast they fly! I am all out of breath. But I shall keep on running till I drop. Somehow I must manage to get back to the barn! Perhaps I can fool my tormentors by circling around this tree."

Peter had hurried after the crows as fast as his legs would carry him, and now he was able to get a good view of what was taking place. Twisting and turning this way and that, running from one bush to another in a vain effort to find one that would shelter him, poor White was being hard pressed, for almost directly above his head flew the crows. Every few seconds they dipped and pecked at the unfortunate cat, often tearing the fur from his back and jeering at his howls of pain. Peter felt sorry for him. Maybe this would teach the cat a lesson, now that White had been given a taste of cruelty himself, he would have a little mercy on the helpless wee birdlings.

FISHER BROS.

To the Republican Electors of the Twenty-Sixth Pennsylvania Congressional District:

With the primary election of April 24, 1928, and its attendant interest to the voters of my district, less than three months away, I am taking this opportunity of announcing my candidacy for re-nomination as Representative in Congress, to which office I was elected in November, 1926.

During my first campaign, my only pledge was "EFFICIENT SERVICE." Whether this pledge has been redeemed is for you to say. I welcome the closest scrutiny of the conduct of my office since March 4, 1927, when I assumed its duties, believing there can be but one answer. By that answer, I am willing to abide. I appreciate fully the honor bestowed upon me by the electors.

Inasmuch as the Seventieth Congress shall remain in session long after the Primary date, I feel my first duty is to remain at the post to which I was elected, rather than devote the major portion of my time to canvassing the District in behalf of my re-nomination. If I attempted to cover the three counties comprising the District, its representation in the House of Representatives would be arrested and the District deprived of the attendance of its duly elected representative. This respectful appeal for support of my candidacy is made to those who believe their Representative should be on the job, while Congress is in Session.

As your representative, I have accepted as mandatory, the exact title of the office, and have not confined my service to the limits of the legislative chamber. Rather I have assumed the duties of counsel, for those who have been obliged to transact business with the various Federal Departments and Bureaus. This has afforded me sincere pleasure, and has I believe resulted in real satisfaction to those affected, at the same created a deeper appreciation of the availability of closer contact with governmental services.

In recommending appointment and reappointments of Federal Employees, I have proceeded and acted on the principle, that merit deserves reward, and that efficiency in the administration of Federal Business requires the selection of personell best fitted to perform the duties imposed, rather than political reward alone. My actions in every case have been the result of study and consideration, without bias.

If the honor of representing the Twenty-sixth District is again conferred upon me, I herewith renew my pledge of "EFFICIENT SERVICE," which automatically will increase in utility by reason of longer service and the accompanying extension of acquaintance and influence.

For me to relate my experiences and accomplishments during my somewhat brief service as Representative, would be improper. You have been well informed through the medium of the press along that line, suffice to say, that I have conscientiously tried to render the service, which I believed to be commensurate with the wishes of the majority of my constituents.

I wish to express at this time, my sincere appreciation for the many unsolicited pledges of support received from individuals and organizations throughout the District, and respectfully renew my request for your consideration and support at the Primary election April 24, 1928.

With the utmost sincerity, I am
Most respectfully yours,

Mr. Fred Munnell underwent an operation for appendicitis at Mercer hospital on Friday.

Interest was aroused in the community last week by the announce-

Scene from Vincent Youman's nautical musical comedy, "Hit the Deck," showing a faithful reproduction of the forward deck of the U. S. S. "Nebraska," which comes to the Scottish Rite Auditorium on Monday, February 13th.

Children Of New Castle Are Greatest Beneficiaries Of Artist's Course Here

Just as a prophet is not without honor save in his own country so an organization that is doing an unprecedented piece of work in its own city is very often forced to plug along without the support of the masses of the city in which it serves.

Next week Miss Mary Lewis comes to the Scottish Rite auditorium for a concert on Tuesday night. The name of Mary Lewis is now famous in both Europe and America. Human interest stories in connection with the sudden rise of Miss Lewis to fame after she had run away from her Little Rock, Arkansas home, have been carried by the country's leading magazines.

Her picture has appeared at one time or another on the front page of the newspapers; and, in addition to being a leading prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company, Miss Lewis has been featured on the Vitaphone. Furthermore she appears frequently in a radio hour.

There is no contradiction to the statement that Miss Mary Lewis is one of the outstanding and one of the most popular personalities before the public at the present moment.

As she travels from city to city, from coast to coast, is there any provision made by the local sponsors in order that the youth of the local community may have an opportunity to come into contact with the artist of whom they have heard and read so much? Or to take a specific example, did the boys and girls of the great city of Pittsburgh, 12 times the size of New Castle, have a chance to hear her when she appeared there once last year and once this year?

They did if they paid the admission price ranging from $1.10 to $3.30.

And yet, when Mary Lewis comes to New Castle next week she will remain in the city on Wednesday and will give two concerts in which she will sing to almost five thousand boys and girls of the public and parochial schools absolutely free of any cost to the students unless it be for their own transportation. These concerts are exclusively for the students; the concert for adults comes on Tuesday evening at 8.15. These free concerts are not an unusual occurrence; in the past three years, 20 such concerts have been given free by nationally or internationally famous artists.

Several other concerts have been given to the students at low admission prices. The only reason why this work is being carried on in New Castle and not in other cities is because there is a local organization devoted to this particular type of community development. There is no better way to teach an appreciation for the very best of entertainment; there is no more effective way to insure a permanent spiritual and cultural reaction of art, among the youth of the city; there is no better and more altruistic way to carry this work on in this community. The Educational Art society has managed the business end so that adult patrons actually pay less admission for its attractions than do patrons of similar attractions in other cities. Moreover when a citizen buys a ticket for an Art society attraction he is helping to make it possible for the thousands of boys and girls of the community to hear these wonderful artists either free of charge or at a very nominal price.

For three years the Art society has operated without a deficit; but unless the revenue increases considerably between now and the end of the season there will be a big loss on the present year's business.

This work must continue; it must pay its bills as it goes and if every good citizen and every citizen whose children benefit by the work of the society will do his part namely, patronize a few of the concerts the Art society will continue without fear of deficit and the possibility of being lost to the community through indifference and lack of support.

Winners In Two School Contests Announced Today

Bessemer Wins Over Mt. Jackson And New Wilmington Over Union Township

Only two of the five school literary contests held last night in various parts of the county had been reported in at the office of County Superintendent of Schools J. C. Syling this morning. These were the contests held at New Wilmington and Bessemer.

The New Wilmington contest was between New Wilmington and Union township, four points being won by New Wilmington and one by Union. The winners were, Essay: Eleanor Adams; oration: Louise Adams and the debate by Doris Goff, Eleanor Maxwell and David Maxwell who had the negative side of the question. Resolved: Should Voting be Made Compulsory? Josephine Abbott of Union won the declamation. The debate counts two points.

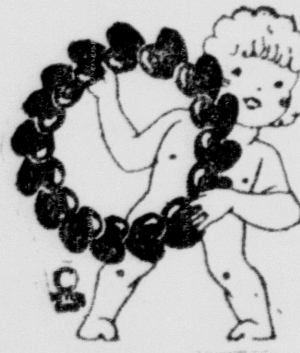

In the contest between Mt. Jackson and Bessemer, all the points were won by Bessemer as follows: Essay, Ida May Beale; oration, Oliver Engle; declamation, Elizabeth Macklin. Debate, Harry Howard, Helen Aiken and Dennis Raden who had the negative of the same question given above.

The subjects in all other contests are the same being as follows: Essay, "The Spirit of the Pioneer;" oration, "The American Ideal;" declamation, Bobby Shaffer; debate, "Should Voting be Made Compulsory?"

Senator Wheeler In Pittsburgh To Probe Coal Strike

Senator Wheeler Again Visits Pittsburgh In Interests Coal Tieup

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, (D) of Montana, was due here today to resume his investigation of the bituminous coal strike situation which he started a week ago.

The senator first made a personal investigation of charges and counter-charges last Sunday when he visited a number of mining communities and questioned representatives of both factions.

Friends received a wire from Wheeler, stating that he would return here today. He is expected to look into the case of Justice of the Peace J. M. O'Rourke, who waived a hearing and posted $8,000 bond for trial on charges of conspiracy, aggravated assault and battery and pointing firearms filed by employees of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation.

The annual report of the Terminal Corporation, second largest bituminous company in this region, which has just been made public showed a net deficit of over $950,000 for 1926.

"Collegiately Wed"

Couple Institute New Form Of Marriage To Rival Companionate Variety Of Union

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Phillips and, below, their "collegiate" wedding party.

By KEEN A. RAFFERTY
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 11.—None of your gloom in this marriage. Isn't marriage supposed to be a happy state? The psychologists may talk about happiness in restraint, but every person between the ages of 17 and 27 knows that happiness is a matter of exhilarating music, happy-go-lucky disrespect of conventions and so on (see Milton's L'Allegro).

So argued Miss Margaret J. Rochester, 21, of Baltimore, and Walter Walker Phillips of Camden, N. J., a student at St. John's college here. And they acted in accordance with the argument.

Based on Partnership.
It is a partnership marriage, they explain. No hasty affair. There was a courtship of two years. Then, with proper "collegiate" ceremony, they were united in the basement of a fraternity house by Rev. Dr. R. W. H. Wrench, an Annapolis minister. The families weren't surprised, but the campus of the oldest college in Maryland was.

Brinton Heirs Ask Citation Dismissal; Brinton Will Case

Rule Granted By Judge Chambers And Arguments Will Be Heard February 20

In the matter of the petition of George V. Brinton for appeal from the probate of the will of his mother, Anna C. Brinton, a motion has been made by the executors and other heirs to dismiss the petition for the reason that no sufficient petition has been presented to the court to warrant the issuing of citations, and also that the court is without jurisdiction to award citations.

The motion is made by the executors, Charles G. Martin and W. E. Porter and Anna Margaret Marshall, John C. Brinton, Lydia McCandless, Margaret M. Marshall, John T. Brinton, W. H. Brinton and Martha R. Erwin.

Judge J. A. Chambers, to whom the motion was presented granted a rule returnable on February 20. This means that arguments for and against the motion will be heard on this date.

Edward Dwyer had an evening gown of green georgette.

The "bridesmaids" negligently stayed upstairs with a jazz orchestra while the wedding was going on.

After a reception upstairs, the couple left for New York, where Phillips will work.

"Until Love Dies."

He carefully explained the wedding: "We do not consider the marriage ceremony essential, but realize that we have to conform, in some measure, with the rules of society. For the words 'until death do us part' we substituted 'until love dies'."

"It is a partnership. Neither of us is obligated to support the other."

Shenango School Pupils Win All Contest Places

First, Second And Third Places In Essay Contest Go To Shenango School

Shenango township consolidated school students are jubilant today. Their entrants in the essay contest put on in this county on "Tractor Farming" won all the prizes, first, second and third.

The contest has been on for some time and was sponsored by R. D. Walters of New Castle for the International Harvester company. The contest was open to all seventh and eighth grade students in the county schools and the winners are: First, Miss Dorothy Fuhs; second, David Weir, and third, Miss Ruth Meyer.

While the youngsters are deserving of all the credit in the world for their achievement, much of the credit should go to the teacher of the eighth grade in this school, Miss Frances Ackerman, who coached the youngsters. Through her supervision and counsel the youngsters laid an intelligent foundation and upon this foundation built essays that the judges had no hesitancy in declaring the winners.

MAIN THOROUGHFARE VIOLATORS PAY FINES

Motorists charged with violation of the stop regulations at main thoroughfares are becoming quite numerous these days and Sergeant Frank M. Jones is being kept busy recording fines collected from them. The fine is $ 2 and it may be raised, if this amount does not have the desired effect.

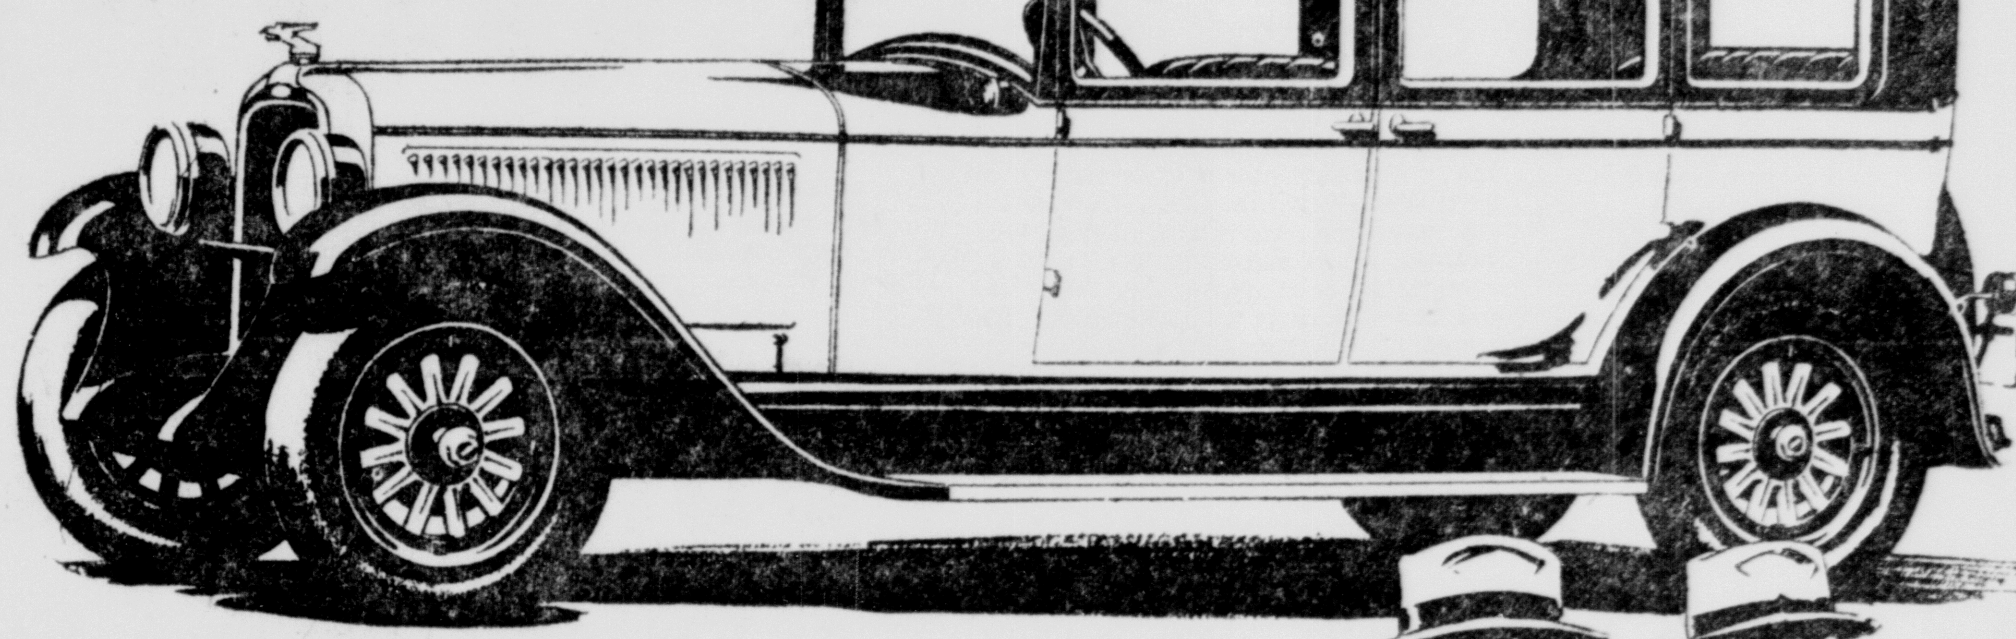

The day of leniency for violators of this regulation is over, the police state and fines will be imposed from now on at all times.

THREE MEN SENT TO COUNTY JAIL

Three men before Mayor William H. Gillespie this morning were sent to the county jail for stays of varying length as a result of being unable to pay the fines imposed. One was Emmett Davis, given $25 or fifteen days in the county jail on a disorderly conduct charge, while the others were two drunks, who were unable to raise $5 fines and who will spend five days each in the county bastille.

If Hoover is elected he probably won't notice much difference except he'll have a new office.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Coney Island in the quaint old English phrase seems to be making a bum out of Atlantic City as a winter resort. Within the last three years the erection of large modern hotels has supplied the one remaining requisite for the competition with the Jersey spa. For Coney has also a long sand beach and an equally long boardwalk on which there are countless emporiums for the selling of kewpie dolls, rococo statuary and like useless merchandise. I do not think horseback riding is allowed on the beach at Coney as it is in Atlantic City. But I for one am willing to dispense with blisters on my knees when I can also dispense with a long tedious train ride. Another mid-winter pleasure at Coney lies in observing the absence of large, lusty families from the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island—one happy phenomenon which can be seen only during cold weather.

At a Sunday benefit performance at the Metropolitan Jane Cowl was playing Juliet. In one scene she walked on the stage and was promptly supplied with her cue by Rollo Peters. Miss Cowl answered nothing. Her partner looked confused for a moment and then, thinking that Jane had forgotten her lines, prompted her in an intense whisper. Miss Cowl shot him a dirty look and still remained silent. Again Mr. Peters came forth with the cue. At this, Miss Cowl marched calmly across the stage and still preserving perfect quiet entered the wings. The helpless Mr. Peters appeared to be even more mystified than the audience by these movements.

Later, Miss Cowl explained to the company that she was waiting for the electrician to train a spotlight on her. When he failed to do so of course she could not go on with scene.

I wonder if Miss Cowl would have been equally upstage had this been a paid performance?

One of the station agents of the Boston and Westchester line was telling me of some of the dodges used by passengers to cheat the company. Now the system of ticket taking used on this line is out of the ordinary. To enter one must pass through a turnstile where tickets are sold. During the journey one keeps the pasteboard and later drops it into a box as one leaves.

Not long ago the agent told me a young man was discovered to be dropping tickets of his own manufacture into the box. When he first boarded a train he passed through the turnstile by buying a ticket to the nearest station which cost about seven cents. For the sake of saving about 20 cents a day he went to all the trouble of tinting and printing his own tickets. And because he was so bright he was later sentenced to six months at hard labor.

Westchester is one of the wealthiest suburbs in the country and yet, for the sake of a few cents a day commuters will risk a jail sentence. There are numerous other racketeers similar to the young man's being worked daily by people who have no reason in the world to resort to such petty dishonesty.

Just to help keep the White Way white a few million electric bulbs are going to be put into a sign atop a movie theater roof. It will advertise a motor car company. Demon statisticians say that this is to be the largest sign in existence having over five thousand square feet of surface area. Also the current to be used would light the whole town of Lake City, Mich., and the bulbs if laid end to end would puncture too many automobile tires.

Weekly Letter

Monday, Feb. 13, 1928.

12:15-1:30 p. m. The Castleton. Fellow Rotarian.

Prexy and Frank Burton had plans laid to have Rabbi Wise address us but when he looked over our club roster he excused himself on account of ill health. So we will have our business meeting and hear the addresses of the various committee chairmen instead.

You can make every visitor to our District Conference remember New Castle with pleasure by being constantly on hand to greet them with a cheery word and offers of assistance. Right now mark it down that you will be found at the Cathedral all day long on April 26 and 27. The favorable remembrance of New Castle by one of visitors may bring a factory to our town.

John Meyer attended Greenville Rotary. Bill Huggins and Doc McDowell are attending St. Petersburg Rotary meetings and Ed Duff at Wheeling. Herman Bress attended in Pittsburgh. And that brought our attendance up to 61.01 per cent. There is no law against you doing likewise when you miss.

CARL E. PAISLEY, Sec'y.

A witness in the Teapot Dome inquiry couldn't remember details of a $4,000,000 transaction. These oil men certainly need no lubricant for their memories.

The climax of fourteen years' effort— a NEW WILLYS-KNIGHT

PRESENTING a low-priced
Six of typical Willys-Knight quality means that this company has reached the goal of fourteen years—a Willys-Knight Six at the lowest price in history!

The supremacy of the Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine is a matter of general knowledge—not only to more than 300,000 owners, but to leading engineers as well. Naturally, it costs more to build this superior engine. It is only today that we have reached our goal of bringing the patented Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine into a lower price field and making its supreme advantages available to countless new buyers.

New Brighton Trims Ellwood

New Brighton High Basketball Team Gains 24 To 15 Victory Over Ellwood High

Ellwood City Girls' Team Defeats New Brighton In Preliminary, 28-23

By "TONY" PASTA

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Feb. 11.—Fighting an uphill battle the Ellwood City high quintet battled the New Brighton team at the Lincoln gym by the score of 24-15 last night. Sara McGoun's sextet fared better and downed the valley sextet 28 to 23 in a very interesting contest.

Coach Lee's passers at no time led the score and the half ended with New Brighton leading 17-6. The blue and white players caged almost as many field goals as the count shows 7-6, but the valley quintet tossed in 10 out of 13 tries from the free throw line. Ellwood showed up poorly from the foul mark, securing 3 out of 8.

Fast Attack. Showing remarkable speed the New Brighton passers formed a strong attack with Dyson, Harris and Fair featuring. These three were responsible for the scoring as Harris copped five out of nine fouls and caged two field goals. Dyson was closely guarded and was held to only three buckets while Fair tossed in two.

King led the scoring for the blue and white, caging five pointers and the other basket was scored by Lawrence. It was a long shot from the center of the floor. This was the beginning of a rally put up by the "Tubers" in the last session, but the lead was too large to overcome.

MacMurdo played his usual good defensive game and continually out-jumped his man at center. Justice as kept from scoring and received practically no chance to show his skill in that department. His close guarding and MacMurdo's defensive work kept the visitors' score as low as it was.

In the preliminary Ellwood high's maidens won a well earned victory as they were forced to play their best to hold the upper edge of the score. The first half of the fray ended with Ellwood leading by four points, but in the third quarter the Beaver valley sextet crept up and took the lead.

Consistent Playing. Consistent playing and fighting spirit enabled Miss McGoun's sextet to stage a rally and nose out the New Brighton aggregation. Thompson and Ross featured in scoring while Dunbar and Bourne had their hands full in guarding New Brighton forwards who menaced the local victory, but close guarding by the blue and white pair held them down. Steir starred at side center, being very effective in getting the ball to Ross.

Menell and Borer led the attack for the visitors and were a continual menace to the winners. This combination proved very strong and came close to taking home the bacon for the Beaver valley sextet.

An unusually large crowd attended last evening's contest, including a large group of rooters from New Brighton.

Ellwood City: New Brighton: W. King, F. Harris; H. Slocum, F. Fair; MacMurdo, C. Dyson; Lawrence, G. Harrington; Justice, G. Roman.

Subs—Ellwood City: Freidoff, Dunn, J. King, Jones. New Brighton: Sutton, Hurly, Gordon, Zeigle.

Field goals—W. King 5, Lawrence, Harris 2, Fair 2, Dyson 3.

Fouls—Ellwood City 3 out of 8, New Brighton 10 out of 13.

Taps Sound For Surviving War Veteran Here

Veteran Of The Civil War, Alexander Frazier Succumbs To Effects Of Stroke

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 11.—The death of Alexander Frazier, which occurred Friday afternoon as a result of a stroke suffered less than a month ago, took the last of the civil war veterans of this community.

Mr. Frazier was in his 89th year, and had just observed his birthday anniversary the preceding Sunday. He is survived by his daughter Mrs. Lucy Grimes, and a granddaughter, Mrs. William Keys, with whom he has made his home in the Evans building on Spring avenue and Fifth street.

Mr. Frazier was born in Mount Pleasant, O., January 30, 1839, his early life being spent in Ohio. He was at Martins Ferry when he enlisted in the Union Army and served through the war with the First West Virginia Light Artillery and was wounded once. With his death the ranks of the civil war veterans vanish from this community.

Funeral services will take place on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Keys home in the Evans building, after which the body will be taken to Sewickley for burial.

The Epic Of Beecher's Island—XI
That Night

AFTER THE REPULSE OF THEIR GREAT MOUNTED CHARGE, THE CHEYENNE MADE TWO HALF-HEARTED ATTEMPTS TO RUSH FORSYTH'S POSITION, BUT WERE BEATEN OFF WITH SEVERE LOSSES. THE HOSTILES KEPT UP A TELLING FIRE FROM THE RIVER BANKS AND IN THE AFTERNOON YOUNG LIEUT. BEECHER, THE SECOND IN COMMAND, WAS HIT. HE DIED THAT EVENING AND THE ISLAND WAS NAMED BEECHER'S ISLAND IN HIS MEMORY.

WITH THE COMING OF NIGHT, THE INDIANS CEASED FIRING AND, AFTER POSTING SENTINELS TO KEEP CLOSE WATCH ON THE ISLAND, WITHDREW TO A SAFE DISTANCE. THE WOUNDED FORSYTH CALLED THE ROLL OF HIS COMMAND, AND FOUND THAT OF 51 OFFICERS AND SCOUTS SIX HAD BEEN SLAIN AND NINE BADLY WOUNDED.

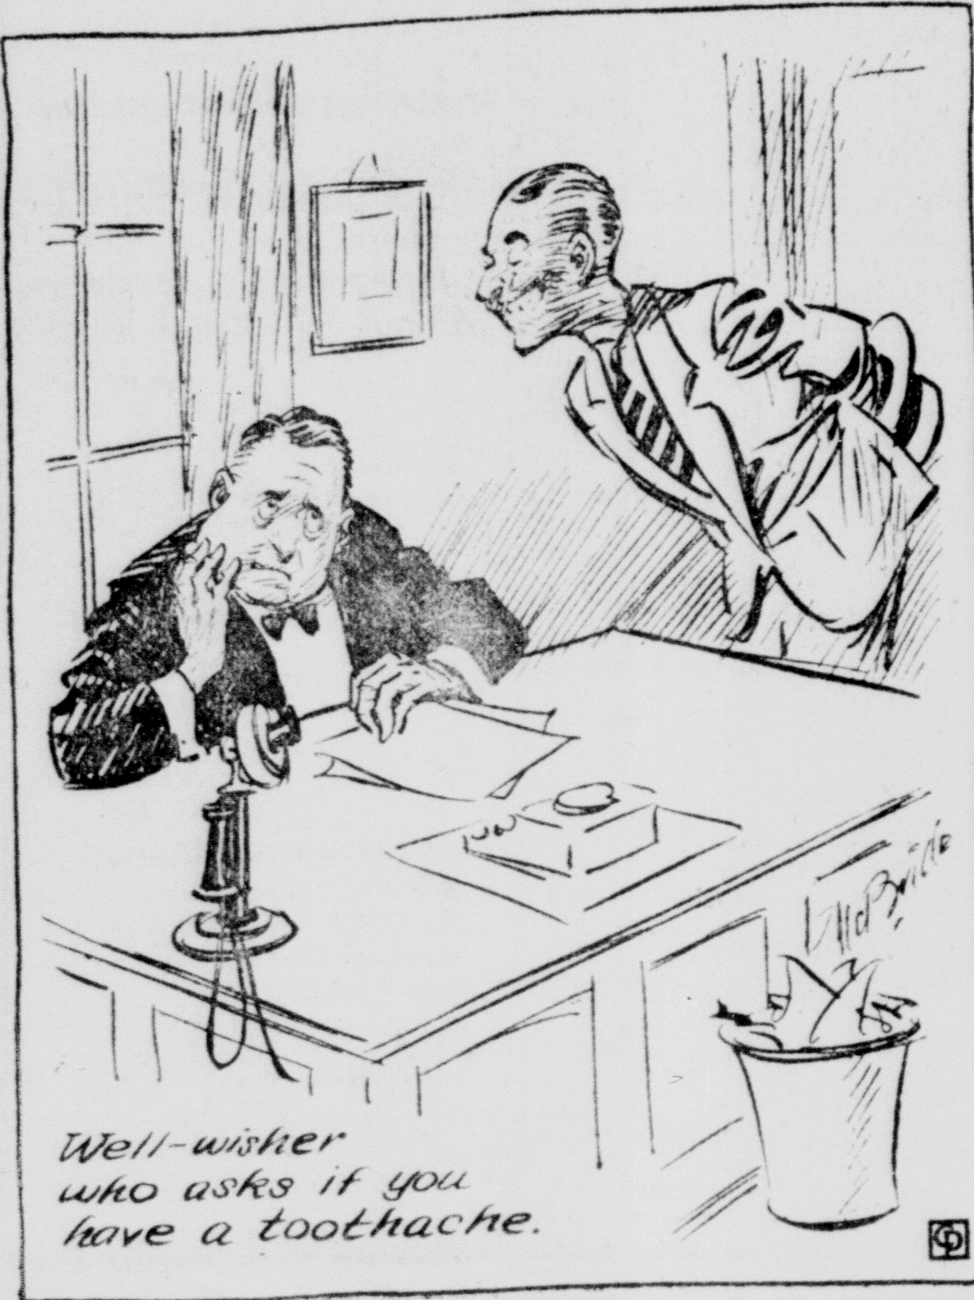

AS SOON AS IT WAS DARK, THE SCOUTS BUSIED THEMSELVES CARING FOR THEIR INJURED COMRADES AND DEEPENING THE RIFLE PITS. IN THE NIGHT TWO BRAVE SCOUTS CRAWLED AWAY TO TRY TO PASS THROUGH THE CORDON OF INDIANS AND CARRY THE NEWS OF FORSYTH'S FLIGHT TO FORT WALLACE.

ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT, TO THE EARS OF THE LITTLE TROOP ON BEECHER'S ISLAND CAME THE THROBBING BEAT OF DRUMS AND TOM-TOMS AND THE WAILING CHANT OF SQUAWS MOURNING THEIR FALLEN WARRIORS IN THEIR CAMP IN THE HILLS.

Beaver Falls High Defeats New Castle 19-18

First Defeat Of Year For Locals In Section Three

New Castle High School Basketball Team Loses Brilliant Game On Valley Court

Inability Of Locals To Fathom Clever Defense Leads To Downfall

(Special To The News) BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 11.—Inability to fathom a well-worked out defense caused the downfall of the New Castle High basketball team here last night at the hands of the Beaver Falls High quintet. The score was 19 to 18. The game was played on the Beaver Falls High floor.

New Castle romped through nine straight Section III victories until they encountered the battling "Tigers" here last night. The Lawrence County team still retains the leadership of the section despite the loss.

In the first quarter of the game it appeared as if the visitors would repeat their former setback of the Heckathorne coached warriors and at the end of the first half had a lead of 10 to 7. Things happened too rapidly for the New Castle boys in the third and fourth quarters and the Orange and Black crew swept into the lead never to be headed, and crashing the tape just a hair-line ahead of the league leaders.

The Beaver Falls High gym was packed to almost capacity strength by a howling mob. New Castle always draws well in this city and the fans were treated to a fine game.

Beaver Falls Comes Through Paul Reider, All-W. P. I. A. L. forward last year was the big noise for the New Castle team in the first half of the game, caging three field goals, but in the second stanza of the game, Mr. Reider was covered like a flower bed in the winter, and didn't break into the scoring column. Alexander, the lanky New Castle center, had one field goal in the first half and a pair of them in the final two periods, and in addition this youngster was in the game up to his ears. Ostrosky was a "marked man" and scored but one from the field.

Garda and Hendrickson were the big scorers for the Beaver Falls team with three apiece. Haggert had the only other tally hung up by the locals.

New Castle's inability to toss foul points cost them the game, as they made but six out of fifteen attempts, while Beaver Falls failed little better with five out of thirteen.

The victory of the Beaver Falls team last night was the second important win of the year, only recently the "Tigers" claimed the Butler High team for a 17 to 14 setback.

Tony Canzoneri of New York City today is recognized as the featherweight champion of America, having defeated Benny Bass in 15 rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

Apparently one-point victories are the jinx of New Castle varsity teams. South of Youngstown won a grid and basketball victory by one point, and last night Beaver Falls won from New Castle 19 to 18.

Monday night at the Old Armory Red Jadabird and Jack Herman returned for a 10-round bout. They are middleweights and the first battle here resulted in a gruelling encounter, but had an unsatisfactory ending. They have been training for their fight with only one idea in mind—establishing either of them as the superior pugilist. Bill Jolly, the promoter, has completed his frame of preliminaries and the semi-final, and no doubt the Old Armory will have to hang out the standing room sign when the bell rings at 8:15 p. m. for the curtain-raiser. Mike Kane, deputy boxing commissioner, will be sent here to take charge of the contest. Jadabird and Herman will arrive here early Monday morning.

Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, medalist in the qualifying rounds of the women's golf tournament at Miami, won the title by vanquishing Mrs. Harold Prout, Springfield, O., 4 and 3. Friday.

Bruce Caldwell, the Yale football star, today denied at New Haven that he had signed with the New York Yankees to play baseball. He says he hopes to make the Yale baseball varsity this spring.

Mr. L. Heardit, the man with the gifted hearing, reported today that persons who have been trembling can now sit back and enjoy their berths. Exceptioning one or two persons, everybody is set, he declares.

Grove City College defeated Washington and Jefferson, 25 to 21, at Grove City last night. Coach Bob Thorn revamped the team and in the last half the Crimson came through with a five-point margin.

Leonard Seppala, veteran Alaska musher, held a commanding lead over the rest of the field in the first leg of the point-to-point race of the New England Sled Dog Club at Laconia, N. H.

"I may not be at the Old Armory Monday night," says a letter from Hearless Brown to his old pal, Jonathan Doubt. "My wife suspects something. She won't tell what she suspects, but she took my best trousers today and locked them in a cedar chest. It appears," writes Hearless, "that I'll have to wear my overalls or come in a barrel unless I can find a duplicate key." Naturally this has Jonathan worried, because he doesn't want to sneak away unless Hearless does likewise. He believes in the old motto: "If one hangs, all hang."

New Castle Girls Take Victory Over Beaver Falls 16-15

New Castle High School Girls Team Plays Fine Game On Beaver Valley Court

The New Castle High school girls varsity basketball team defeated the Beaver Falls High maidens 16 to 15, in a preliminary game to the New Castle-Beaver Falls game last night at Beaver Falls High school.

At the end of the first half the New Castle girls had a lead of 8 to 7. The game was hard fought in every quarter with the locals nearly always in the lead.

The work of Miss Ann Ponian, Plattner and Kaufman brought victory to the local girls, while the work of Miss Almyer and Miss Glover featured for Beaver Falls.

The summary: New Castle 16 Beaver Falls 15 Ponian F. Almyer F. Plattner F. Januzzi F. Kaufman F. Beesor F. Wygonowski F. Timme F. Stern F. Subbs—Craig, Parker, Glover. Field goals: Ponian 3, Clark, Patton, Almyer 3, Fouls: Ponian 6 out of 9 Almyer 7 out of 15. Glover 2 out of 3. Referee—Miss McClenahan. Score—Isabel Thomas.

Tony Canzoneri Defeats Bass in New York Bout

Tony Canzoneri Wins Featherweight Crown By Good Showing Against Bass

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—It might be well the next time you are in New Orleans if you do not chide your boot-black when he lands a left hook with the toe of his brush flat on the "but-tons" of your corn. Instead, you should smile conciliatingly, tip him with a lavish dime, lift your hat in parting and maybe he will like you enough so that he won't really mind when, a year or two later, you pay your way in to see him win the featherweight championship of the world.

It wasn't so many years ago that Pete Herman quit bootblacking in New Orleans because he realized that he was on his way to the featherweight championship and, under the circumstances, he just couldn't give his best efforts to the profession of his youth.

Today, Herman is a ring tragedy, a blind man virtually, but his purple robe of royalty is draped about the shoulders of Tony Canzoneri. Tony, like Herman, has the hot blood of Italy in his veins. He, too, is an ex-bootblack and the parallel is complete with the statement that he came from the stalls of New Orleans.

Canzoneri is the new featherweight champion today because he ran up such a lead on points over Benny Bass, the Philadelphia contender, in the first ten rounds that it hardly was necessary to fight the other five. The only man in the house who didn't think so was Bass and he closed with such a rush that he all but caught the distressed Canzoneri at the wire, the latter just lasting to get a deserved decision.

By a score of 14 to 12 the fourth team of the North Street Girls reserves defeated the third team when they met in the second scheduled game in the league yesterday at the Y. W. C. A. floor.

The game provided many thrills. The forwards, Virginia Calahan and Jane Stern showed the making of future stars while Eleanor McCune center, probably was the feature player of the game.

As a result of the contest the fourth team will play the second team of the Ben Franklin Girl Reserves next Thursday.

HELEN WILLS
HELEN PAYSON

This being the season of the year when Valentine Greetings are in order, it is quite fitting that the sport pages be decorated with the faces and forms of the various girl athletes. The fact that six famous ladies of sport happen to be christened Helen merely determined which of the many prominent modern Dianas should grace this page today. It does not mean that Betty Nuthall, Lili Alvarez, Aileen Riggins, Glenna Collett, Ellen Bennett, Mlle de la Chaux, and many other attractive young ladies are not included in this offering to the Shrine of Youth, Health and Beauty.

Since Helen of Troy deserted Menelaus to go away with Paris, why shouldn't Helen Wills, Helen Meany, Helen Filkey, and other Helens desert these shores to compete in foreign climes? Helen Wills has played tennis in Paris, Helen Wainwright and Helen Meany won honors in swimming and diving in Paris, and now some of these famous Helens will compete in the coming Olympics at Amsterdam.

In 1924 Helen Wills won the Olympic tennis title, while Helen Meany and Helen Wainwright won places in the swimming events. Helen Wainwright turned professional in 1925.

Helen Filkey, that remarkable girl athlete from Chicago, is a versatile performer, starring in the sprints, hurdles, and broad jump. Helen Jacobs is fast coming along as a prominent tennis player, having made a splendid showing in the 1927 national championships. Helen Payson won the Canadian women's golf title last year, defeating young Miss Steifel in the final round of competition that had seen the elimination of such famous stars as Miss Collett, Miss Orcutt, Mrs. Fraser, and Miss Van Wie. Glenna Collett, by the way, was eliminated by another Helen, Helen Paget. Still another golfing Helen of note is Helen Lawson, champion of California.

Tony Ross Fined $200 By Court In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11.—Tony Ross, former heavyweight boxer of New Castle, remembered here especially for his fight with Jack Johnson at Duquesne Garden in 1909, was fined $200 by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in federal court Friday for sale and possession of liquor. The case dated back to February 8, 1925, when the Motor Square Hotel was raided, Ross being bartender there at the time.

Last August Ross was fined $25 in federal court when he pleaded guilty to transporting motion pictures of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight from New York to Pittsburgh.

Ross once was considered the premier heavyweight of this section.

Trade School Beats Business College

New Castle trade school defeated the New Castle Business college by a large margin in a game played last evening. When the final basket was tallied the score stood 50 to 5 in favor of the trade school.

So far, the trade school has won seven straight games, losing the first game of the season to Zellenople. The big scorers for the trade school were Kenst, Jenkins and Johns.

The lineup:

SORDS POINTS

Peckinpough Returns To Cleveland, Where He Started Big League Career; Now Bosses Indians

Roger Peckinpough has come home. The grizzled veteran of countless American league wars has returned as manager of the Indians, which club sent him out into baseball's stormy strife, a wondering young rookie in the big leagues.

Today Peck finds nothing in Cleveland but encouragement and good wishes to send him off on the treacherous path of major league management. He has been given the reins of a club which has suffered lean years, and the club money bags are now open. Peck should step to it.

Cleveland fans and players appear to be strong for Peck. He is likeable and that is a great asset for any manager to possess. No diamond chief can defeat the enemy on the field when there is a civil war blazing on the bench.

Way back in 1914 Peck was given a chance to try his hand at managing the New York Yankees. It was only for a month or so, but he did a good job of it.

Since that faraway campaign Peckinpough has added a mountain of diamond wisdom and experience to his store of good baseball sense. He should be familiar with every angle of the game.

As a player Peck was one of the greatest of shortstops. Though never a heavy hitter, he was death to ground balls, no matter where they were hit. In starting and pivoting double plays, prime requisites in a fine shortstop, he was lightning fast.

Eighteen years ago—that is in the spring of 1910—the Cleveland Indians gave Peck a tryout, and after his appearance in 15 games he was sent to the minors for more seasoning.

He played with New Haven and Portland before returning to the big show in 1912. The following year the infielder was traded to the Yankees, where he played bangup ball for nine years. He preceded and played for several years with the great Yankee combination which included Babe Ruth, Herb Pennock, Wally Schang, Waite Hoyt and others, when they brought the first pennant to the American league fans of New York.

Later Peck went to Washington, where he helped the capital city win its only two pennants. In the year of the second Washington champion team, 1925, Peck was selected as the most valuable player in the American league.

But in the world series of that year, played with Pittsburgh, tragedy rode Peck almost into retirement. His playing in the classic was so bad that many thought Peck's selection as the best player in his league had made him too self-conscious and, as a result, threw him off his game.

But there was a lot of good baseball in the old hide yet. Last year Roger saw service with the White Sox.

And this year he comes back to Cleveland—to be a manager with a wealthy club at his back. It looks like Peck's big chance.

Three Fast Games In Church League

Central Christians Defeat Temple Israel; Croton And First Christians Win

Three fast games were played in the New Castle Church league at the Y. M. C. A. floor on Friday night.

In the first game of the program the Central Christians defeated the Temple Israel team in the best played game of the season to date, by a score of 23 to 21 in an extra five minute period battle. A. Bauman scored the field goal in the extra period to give the Central Christians their victory. The game was tied at 19-19 at the end of the regulation time.

The Croton M. E. quintet handed the First Baptist crew a severe beating 34 to 9 in the second game of the evening. The Croton team led throughout the game with Nolan and Twaddie the high scorers.

The First Christians defeated the Central Presbyterians 23 to 17 in a well played game. The First Christians had a lead of 15 to 8 at the end of the first half. G. Lackey and Leslie were the feature players.

Conger Defeats Doktor Peltzer

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—The fame of Dr. Otto Peltzer, German middle-distance runner, was in eclipse today to a lean lanky Iowan by the name of Ray Conger.

Conger, National A. A. U. champion outdoor miller and a former prominent track man at the University of Iowa, showed his heels to the highly-touted German runner in the 1,000-meter race at the riding club games here last night.

Conger, who used to run down rabbits on the corn-growing prairies of his native state, breasted the tape a full nine yards ahead of Peltzer. Ray's time for the distance was 2:37 2-5, not a record. He ran under the colors of the I. A. C.

GROVERS DEFEAT W. & J. 26-21

(International News Service)
GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 11.—Grove City marked up a victory over Wash-Jeff in basketball here last night, 26-21. The Grovers pulled away in the third and fourth quarters after Wash-Jeff had led throughout the first two periods.
